Notice of Intent to Designate a Provincial Historic Resource

(Historical Resources Act)

File: Des. 2123

Notice is hereby given that sixty days from the date of service of this Notice and its publication in Alberta Gazette, the Minister of Culture and Community Spirit intends to make an Order that the site known as the:

Parkland Evangelical Lutheran Church, together with the land legally described as:
together with the land legally described as:

All that portion of the north west quarter of section thirty two (32), township forty six (46), range eighteen (18), west of the fourth meridian, described as follows: - commencing at the north east corner of the said quarter section and running in a southerly direction along the eastern boundary of the said quarter section a distance of three hundred and thirty (330) feet, thence in a westerly direction parallel with the northern boundary of the said quarter section a distance of two hundred and sixty four (264) feet, thence in a northerly direction parallel to the eastern boundary of the said quarter section a distance of three hundred and thirty (330) feet to the northern boundary of the said quarter section, thence along the northern boundary of the said quarter section to the point first above mentioned, containing 2 acres more or less. excepting thereout: 0.12 of an acre more or less for road as shown on plan 6549RS excepting thereout all mines and minerals and municipally located in Camrose County, Alberta be designated as a Provincial Historic Resource under section 20 of the Historical Resources Act, RSA 2000 cH-9.

The reasons for the designation are as follows: The heritage value of the Parkland Evangelical Lutheran Church lies in its identity as an excellent example of rural Lutheran church design in Alberta.

Starting in the 1890s, the region around Ohaton attracted a number of Norwegian Lutheran settlers from Minnesota. After 1900, additional Norwegian Lutherans, this time from South Dakota, arrived in the area. In 1903, five families of the later group organized themselves into the Parkland Lutheran Congregation and began to hold worship services in their homes and raise funds for the construction of a church. The congregation grew and, in 1913, it was officially incorporated as the Parkland Norwegian Evangelical Lutheran Congregation. The new congregation was accepted as a member of the Canadian District of the Norwegian Lutheran Church of America, which is now part of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in Canada. This synod followed a form of Lutheranism advocated by the Norwegian lay minister and reformer Hans Nielsen Hauge in the late 1700s and early 1800s. Hauge believed that Lutheranism should focus on personal faith experiences, more informal worship services, and a greater role for lay ministry. In 1930, the Parkland congregation formed a building committee and, using local labour, a basement was dug and a concrete foundation was poured. Due largely to the Great Depression, construction progressed slowly over the next 16 years. The church was completed in 1946 and was officially dedicated that October.

The design of the Parkland Evangelical Lutheran Church reflects the sensibilities of pietistic Lutheranism. These sensibilities are demonstrated by the overall simplicity of the church - its lack of decoration and ornamentation and the use of white paint throughout. The starkness of the interior is relieved only by the natural wood colours of the pews, the lectern, the baptismal font and the altar. The two sacraments of the Lutheran faith - Eucharist and baptism – are embodied in the altar area and the baptismal font. The altar itself is relatively undecorated and is situated lower to the ground and closer to the congregation than is generally found in Lutheran churches that do not follow Haugean principles. The painting of the “Light of the World” in the altarpiece shows Christ knocking at the door of the heart and is particularly expressive of the pietistic emphasis upon a deep, personal relationship to Jesus. A small choir loft located opposite the altar area embodies the distinctive importance of hymns in Lutheran worship services.

The Parkland Evangelical Lutheran Church is a fine example of Carpenter Gothic architecture, a form of design popular throughout western Canada that rendered the typically stone forms of Gothic Revival architecture in the more humble medium of wood. The church features typical elements of the Gothic style included the pointed-arch windows, asymmetry, and steeply-pitched gable roof. The dominant feature of the church is the corner bell tower with crenellated parapet and louvered ventilation openings. The open floor plan of the basement and the presence of a food preparation area speak to the importance of the church as a community gathering space in addition to being a place of worship. Despite the overall emphasis on simplicity, which is in accordance with Lutheran principles, the community’s sense of pride in their church, which was built with local volunteer labour, is demonstrated through the detailed brickwork at the top of the chimney, the form of the crenellations on the top of the bell tower, and the craftsmanship evident in the altar, baptismal font, interior railings and other furnishings.

It is therefore considered that the preservation and protection of the resource is in the public interest.

Dated this 30th day of December, A.D. 2009.

It is therefore considered that the preservation and protection of the resource is in the public interest.

Lamont Health Care Centre Act

Notice is hereby given that petitions will be submitted by the board of management of the Lamont Health Care Centre to the Lieutenant Governor and the Legislative Assembly of the Province of Alberta at the 2010 Spring session of the Legislature of the Province of Alberta for the passage of a Bill, namely the:

Lamont Health Care Centre Act

Lamont Health Care Centre is a combined acute care and auxiliary hospital and nursing home facility located in Lamont, Alberta, and operated by a “board of management” established as a corporate entity by Ministerial Order under sections 4 and 5 of the Hospitals Act. The Health Facilities Accountability Statutes Amendment Act, 2007 when proclaimed in force, will repeal sections 4 and 5 of the Hospitals Act with the result that the board of management will cease to exist unless steps are taken to preserve its existence. So as to avoid any interruption in the operations of the Lamont Health Care Centre, the Lamont Health Care Centre Act will continue the board of management in existence as a body corporate with the name “Lamont Health Care Centre” (the “corporation”).

The proposed Lamont Health Care Centre Act will also:

1. Set out the objects and purposes of the corporation consistent with the non-profit operation of hospitals, nursing homes and other health and wellness facilities and consistent with the medical moral code of The United Church of Canada.
2. Provide that the property, obligations and liabilities of the board of management will continue to be the property, obligations and liabilities of the corporation and will generally ensure that the corporation continues in its operations without impact upon the corporation or any persons with whom it has dealings.

3. Give to the corporation the capacity, rights, powers and privileges of a natural person.
4. Ensure that the terms of the existing Lamont Health Care Centre Plan continue in effect as a contract between The United Church of Canada and Alberta Health Services until amended or replaced by agreement between them.
5. Require the corporation to file with the Alberta Registrar of Corporations the Corporation's annual financial statements and auditor's report together with updated listings of its members and officers.

Any person whose rights or property are materially affected by the proposed legislation may contact the Legislative Assembly in writing no later than the 15th day following the opening day of session should they wish to make representation relevant to this application. Correspondence should be addressed to the Office of Parliamentary Counsel, 800 Legislature Annex, 9718 – 107 Street, Edmonton, Alberta, T5K 1E4. Telephone 780- 422- 4837. Fax 780-427-0744.

Dated at Edmonton, Alberta, this 26th day of January, 2010

1. To clarify the area served by changing the name of the Lethbridge Community Foundation to the Community Foundation of Lethbridge and Southwestern Alberta.
2. To expand the Foundation's powers of investment and permit delegation thereof.
3. To amend the Foundation's power to indemnify its directors and officers.
4. To expand the power of the Foundation to deal with gifts when the wishes of the donor are unclear or impossible to carry out.
