Notice of Intent to Designate a Provincial Historic Resource

(Historical Resources Act)

File: Des. 1506

Notice is hereby given that sixty days from the date of service of this Notice and its publication in Alberta Gazette, the Minister of Culture intends to make an Order that the site known as the:

Rosebud Hotel, together with the land legally described as:

Plan 6742BQ
Block 1
Lots 6 to 8 Inclusive
Excepting Thereout All Mines and Minerals and municipally located at Rosebud in Wheatland County, Alberta be designated as a Provincial Historic Resource under section 20 of the Historical Resources Act, RSA 2000 cH-9.

The reasons for the designation are as follows: The heritage value of the Rosebud Hotel lies in its representation of a typical hotel found in many of Alberta's small towns and villages. It is also an excellent example of the construction style that characterized many early hotels across the province.

During the settlement period and the early years of a townsite's development, hotels were often amongst the first businesses to be established. Hotels provided short term lodging for business travellers and for potential settlers visiting an area to evaluate and select land for farming. Through their associated restaurants, beer parlours and pool rooms, many hotels also served as social centres for a region's established population. Early hotels in small rural communities were typically located near the railway tracks and were often simple wood-frame, square or rectangular structures, with flat roofs, wood siding, boom town fronts and two, or occasionally three, storeys. Identifying signage was frequently displayed across the top of the front facade. The lodging rooms, which were usually quite small, were arranged off a central hallway, and many hotels housed a bar or restaurant, which often generated more revenue than did the lodgings. At one point, most towns, villages and hamlets across Alberta had at least one of these hotels. If a townsite developed into a major urban area or service centre, these early hotels, as with most commercial structures, were upgraded or replaced by more substantial buildings. More frequently however, most townsites did not develop as initially envisioned and these simple hotels survived long past their original intended period of use. With the growing popularity of automobile travel, camping and motels plus the decline in passenger rail travel through the middle decades of the 1900s, small rural hotels were used less frequently and most eventually fell victim to age, disuse and neglect.

Knowing that the Canadian Northern Railway was planning a line through the Rosebud area, the Gilbert Farm Lands company, which was a land agent for the Canadian Pacific Railway, heavily promoted the region as a promising agricultural area with the community of Rosebud being the main service centre. The Gilberts encouraged existing farmers and townspeople to invest in the construction of a hotel to provide lodging for travelling business people and potential new settlers evaluating the district before acquiring land. The hotel, which was built in 1915, is similar to many hotels in other early communities. It is a simple, highly utilitarian, two-storey, wood frame structure with wood-siding and a flat roof hidden behind a low parapet. A large painted plywood sign reading HOTEL ROSEBUD is mounted to the top of the front facade. The main floor contained a lobby, office, restaurant and a bar/beer parlour. The upper storey consists of a series of small rooms and a communal washroom, all accessed from a central hallway. Decoration and ornamentation is minimal, with simple but sturdy woodwork throughout the building. In 1917, the hotel was expanded with a two storey addition to the rear, which contains a suite for the manager's family on the main floor and two additional rooms on the second floor.

The community of Rosebud never did develop as envisioned; its population peaked at about 150 people in 1925 before crashing to a low of 65 by the end of the 1930s. The hotel was rarely profitable and went through nine owners, a mortgage foreclosure in 1916 and a tax seizure in 1942, before its liquor license was revoked and the hotel was shut down in the 1960s. The Rosebud Hotel still stands as an excellent example of the type of hotels built in the early Alberta communities and the unrealized ambitions of these communities, promoters and businesses.

It is therefore considered that the preservation and protection of the resource is in the public interest.

Dated this 20th day of November, A.D. 2013.

Ref: Insurance Act
Minor Injury Regulation

APPENDIX

The maximum amount recoverable as damages for non-pecuniary losses for all minor injuries sustained by a claimant as a result of an accident occurring during the 2014 calendar year is $4,777.

This amount is based on the annual change in the Alberta Consumer Price Index (CPI), and calculated using the following formulas:

- (a) The annual change in the Alberta CPI was calculated to one-tenth of a percentage point using the formula $X = (A-B) / B$ where:

X is the annual change in the Alberta CPI;

A is the sum of the 12 individual monthly CPI indexes for the 12 month period ending on September 30, 2013; and

B is the sum of the 12 individual monthly CPI indexes for the 12 month period ending on September 30, 2012;

- (b) The result in (a) is multiplied by the 2013 minor injury amount and rounded to the nearest whole dollar to derive the increase in the minor injury amount for 2014; and
- (c) The increase in (b) is added to the 2013 minor injury amount and rounded to the nearest whole dollar to establish the 2014 minor injury amount.

The following data was used in the calculation:

12-m period ending Sept 30, 12	Alberta Consumer Price Index	12-m period ending Sept 30, 13	Alberta Consumer Price Index
Oct-11	127.2	Oct-12	128.0
Nov-11	126.6	Nov-12	127.3
Dec-11	126.5	Dec-12	126.5
Jan-12	127.1	Jan-13	126.5
Feb-12	126.6	Feb-13	127.7
Mar-12	126.6	Mar-13	128.1
Apr-12	127.0	Apr-13	128.7
May-12	126.6	May-13	129.5
Jun-12	126.9	Jun-13	129.8

Jul-12	126.8	Jul-13	129.6
Aug-12	127.6	Aug-13	129.4
Sep-12	127.8	Sep-13	129.5
Summation (B)	1523.3	Summation (A)	1540.6
*2011 basket, monthly (2002=100)

Based on the above, the annual change in the Alberta CPI, rounded to one-tenth of a percentage point, is 0.01136 or 1.1 per cent. The increase in the minor injury amount for 2014 is 1.1 per cent of the 2013 minor injury amount of $4,725 rounded to the nearest whole dollar, or $52. Accordingly, the 2014 minor injury amount is set at $4,777.

The historical Minor Injury amounts, reported by effective date, are as follows:

Effective Date Range	Minor Injury Amount
October 1, 2004 to December 31, 2006	$4,000
January 1, 2007 – December 31, 2007	$4,144

January 1, 2010 – December 31, 2010	$4,518
January 1, 2011 – December 31, 2011	$4,559
January 1, 2012 – December 31, 2012	$4,641
