Culture and Tourism

Notice of Intention to Designate a Provincial Historic Resource

(Historical Resources Act)

File: Des. 2317

Notice is hereby given that no less than sixty days from the date of service of this Notice and its publication in the Alberta Gazette, the Minister of Culture and Tourism intends to make an Order that the site known as the:

Ukrainian Farmers' National Home of Taras Shevchenko, together with the land legally described as:

Meridian 4 Range 18 Township 60

Section 15

All that portion of the south west quarter

Described as follows: commencing at the south west corner of the said quarter section; thence easterly along the southerly boundary thereof two hundred and nine (209) Feet to a point; thence northerly at right angles to the said south boundary two hundred and nine (209) Feet to a point; thence westerly parallel to the said south boundary to a point on the west boundary thereof; thence southerly along the said west boundary to the point of commencement, containing 0.405 Hectares (1 Acre)

More or Less

Excepting Thereout All Mines and Minerals and municipally located in Smoky Lake County, Alberta be designated as a Provincial Historic Resource under Section 20 of the Historical Resources Act, RSA 2000 cH-9.

The reasons for the designation are as follows: The Ukrainian Farmers' National Home of Taras Shevchenko in Barich is significant as a rare example of a once common social and cultural institution within the Ukrainian bloc settlement of east central Alberta, and as an excellent late example of a fieldstone structure serving the Ukrainian community.

Built in 1933, the Ukrainian Farmers' National Home of Taras Shevchenko is an excellent example of the community halls that emerged as essential features of Ukrainian bloc settlement in east-central Alberta during the interwar years. The halls were modeled on an existing Ukrainian institution (reading clubs) but adapted to meet the particular social and cultural needs of Ukrainian settlers in Alberta. The hall in Barich reflects this process – it was used as a library and meeting place for political discussions, but it also served as the community's social hub, hosting dances, dramatic productions, concerts and various celebrations. The timing of the construction is significant and typical of Ukrainian community halls in east-central Alberta, most of which were built in the 1920s or 1930s.

Halls were often the last community structures built in Ukrainian-Albertan crossroads settlements after the post office, church and school – as such, they reflect the growth and stability of Ukrainian settlements in Alberta after World War One. In the case of Barich, this relationship to the historical development of the community is communicated by the hall's close proximity to the St. Peter and Paul Russo-Orthodox Church and cemetery, as well as to the surrounding landscape. Overall, the building's siting, design and extant historic features strongly communicate the social and community life of Ukrainian-Albertans in the early- to mid-twentieth century, reflecting how an ethno-cultural group adapted an existing institution to the conditions of settlement in rural Alberta.

The Ukrainian Farmers' National Home of Taras Shevchenko is further significant due to its design and its fieldstone construction. It is an outstanding example of a rural community hall and embodies many of the design details commonly found in such buildings. The large and open auditorium-style layout reflects the building's historic use as a meeting space, while the stage, cloak room and ticket booth communicate its function as an entertainment venue. The stage backdrop and side panels depicting pastoral scenes of trees, flowers and streams are typical of Ukrainian halls in east-central Alberta, while the stage curtain advertising local businesses points to the building's historic connections to the local community. In addition, the hall's fieldstone construction greatly enhances its heritage value – the stone walls reflect the skilled craftsmanship of local masons, as well as the community's decision to draw upon inexpensive and readily-available building materials during the Great Depression. The Ukrainian Farmers' National Home of Taras Shevchenko is a rare extant example of fieldstone architecture in rural Alberta, and the building's design and construction at once communicate the building's historic use as well as the social and economic context within which the structure was originally built.

Any person who wishes to make a representation regarding the proposed designation may do so by submitting a written request to Matthew Wangler, Executive Director, Alberta Historical Resources Foundation, 8820 – 112th Street, Edmonton, Alberta, T6G 2P8. Any such request must be made within 30 days of the publication of this notice. At the end of the 30 day period, the Foundation will fix a date for the hearing of representations and will notify all those who have advised of their intention to make representations. On the date fixed, the Foundation will hear representations from all parties who have expressed an interest in doing so.

Dated this 21st day of September, A.D. 2017.
