GOVERNMENT NOTICES

Culture, Multiculturalism and Status of Women

Notice of Intention to Designate a Provincial Historic Resource (Historical Resources Act)

File: Des. 1508

Notice is hereby given that no less than sixty days from the date of service of this Notice and its publication in the Alberta Gazette, the Minister of Culture, Multiculturalism and Status of Women intends to make an Order that the site known as the:

Strathcona Garage, together with the land legally described as:

Descriptive Plan 9220734
Block 48
Lot 1A
excepting thereout all mines and minerals and municipally located in Edmonton, Alberta be designated as a Provincial Historic Resource under Section 20 of the Historical Resources Act, RSA 2000 cH-9.

The reasons for the designation are as follows: The heritage value of the Strathcona Garage rests in its association with the early automobile industry in Alberta. It is additionally significant as an excellent and increasingly rare example of an early twentieth century building type designed specifically for the growing automobile industry.

The Strathcona Garage opened in 1912 and served variously as an automobile dealership, garage and repair shop until 1943. This period of use reflects a crucial transitional stage in the history of automobiles in Alberta as cars evolved from a luxury item for the affluent to a mass-produced product owned by a much wider range of people. When the Strathcona Garage opened, automobile ownership was rare and a clear marker of wealth and status. The building was designed to showcase the latest automobile models and served a rather exclusive customer base. By the 1920s, increases in production had significantly reduced the cost of automobiles, placing ownership within reach of most middle- and working-class Albertans. The building's continuous use as a garage until 1943 further reflects the associated growth of the service industry to keep pace with the demands of increased automobile ownership.

The Strathcona Garage is thus associated with the growth and development of a technology that fundamentally transformed the lives of Albertans in the first half of the 20th century

The building has additional architectural significance as an excellent example of an increasingly rare building type associated with the early automobile industry. While relatively simple in design, the building's red brick construction, date and name stones, crenelated roof and other ornamental features reflect the prestige associated with early automobile ownership. The building's north façade was explicitly designed to showcase automobiles in an impressive fashion and while the original plate glass display windows are no longer extant, the aforementioned features strongly communicate the building's original design and purpose as well as the status associated with automobile ownership in the early 1910s. The building's east façade is more modest and functional in design, reflecting that section of the building's more mundane use of automobile storage and repair, while the second floor housed apartment suites—an unusual feature for a building of this type. The building also contributes significant architectural and thematic variety to the Old Strathcona Provincial Historic Area, one of the province's most significant heritage districts. The Strathcona Garage is thus highly significant as an increasingly rare example of a building purpose-built for automobile sales and service in the early twentieth century.

Any person who wishes to make a representation regarding the proposed designation may do so by submitting a written request to the Minister, care of Matthew Wangler, Executive Director, Historic Resources Management Branch 8820 – 112th Street, Edmonton, Alberta, T6G 2P8. Any such request must be made within 30 days of the publication of this notice. At the end of the 30-day period, the Minister will fix a date for the hearing of representations and will notify all those who have advised of their intention to make representations. On the date fixed, the Minister will hear representations from all parties who have expressed an interest in doing so.

Dated this 24th day of June, 2020.
