Notice of Intention to Designate a Provincial Historic Resource

(Historical Resources Act)

File: Des. 1967

Notice is hereby given that no less than sixty days from the date of service of this Notice and its publication in the Alberta Gazette, the Minister of Culture intends to make an Order that the site known as the:

Roxy Theatre, together with the land legally described as:

Plan 820L
Block 6
Lots 6 and 7
excepting thereout all mines and minerals and municipally located in the Crowsnest Pass, Alberta be designated as a Provincial Historic Resource under Section 20 of the Historical Resources Act, RSA 2000 cH-9.

The reasons for the designation are as follows: the Roxy Theatre is significant as a representation of the development of theatrical and cinematic exhibition in small town Alberta and as a late phase purpose-built cinema venue of unique architectural design.

Film theatres became a standard feature of urban and town lifestyles throughout Alberta in the early twentieth century, providing a popular recreational and cultural outlet for citizens, often in prominent main street locations. With the decline of vaudeville performances during the 1920s, existing theatres transitioned from functioning as live and mixed-use venues to dedicated film screening facilities.

The Roxy Theatre represents a theatrical presence in the community dating back to ca. 1908 when, at the east end of 17th Street (the primary business street) opposite the Grand Union Hotel, stood a two-storey wooden building housing the Palm Café and the adjoining Palace Theatre. The Palace Theatre dated to the earliest period of film screenings in the early 1900s when theatres were venues shared with live performers. In 1948, a catastrophic fire hit Coleman, destroying six buildings on 17th Street, including the Palm Café and Palace Theatre. The Palace Theatre owners (the Purnell brothers) built a new theatre on the footprint of the Palm Café, naming it the Roxy. This new structure suffered an interior fire in 1950 but was quickly repaired. In 1962, Joe and John Dobek purchased the theatre and operated the Roxy Theatre until 1993. Ralph Thurn operated the Roxy as a live event venue before selling the building in 2001.

The Roxy Theatre represents a striking and rare architectural form of theatre architecture in the Province of Alberta. This later phase freestanding cinema has distinctive architectural features, including the Quonset hut construction. This rare style of theatre architecture arose after the Second World War. The Quonset hut was designed during the war as a lightweight, easy to assemble and ship structure that was used for a variety of purposes. After the war, Quonset buildings found a variety of civilian uses, including being used as movie theatres. In many instances, the Quonset hut contained the entire theatre, projection booth, seating, screen and stage, while at Coleman the masonry two-storey portion of the theatre incorporated the projection, admission and concession functions.

Any such request must be made within 30 days of the publication of this notice. At the end of the 30-day period, the Minister will fix a date for the hearing of representations and will notify all those who have advised of their intention to make representations. On the date fixed, the Minister will hear representations from all parties who have expressed an interest in doing so.
